

THE WORLD.

Published by the News Publishing Co.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 30.

Subscription to THE EVENING WORLD (Including Postage), 3 MONTHS, 30c.; PER YEAR, $3.50.

The following comparison is an exact record of the actual, regular, bona-fide editions of THE WORLD printed during the week preceding and week following the last election:

Table with 2 columns: Week before election, After election. Rows for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday, Weekly and Semi-Weekly, Totals.

We, the undersigned, the paper manufacturers who supply the white paper used by the New York World, hereby certify that we have carefully examined the above statement of circulation, and solemnly swear that it corresponds with the amount of white paper supplied by us, used by THE WORLD and charged up to them (in accordance with our method of charging THE WORLD) since the date of the last election.

BULKLEY, DUNTON & CO., BY DAVID G. GARRETT. YORK HAVEN PAPER CO. SUGARHANA WATER-POWER AND PAPER CO. GREEN FALLS PAPER MILL CO., BY Wm. B. DILLON, Manager of Sales. W. H. PARSONS & CO., BY W. H. PARSONS.

Persons appearing before me DAVID G. GARRETT, of Bulkeley, Dunton & Co.; Wm. B. DILLON, manager of sales for the York Haven Paper Co., the Sugarhana Water-Power and Paper Co., and Green Falls Paper Mill Co., and W. H. PARSONS, of W. H. Parsons & Co., who, being known to me, did append their signatures and swore that the foregoing statement is true and correct. WILLIAM I. SEIMER, Commissioner of Deeds, City and County of New York, Nov. 19, 1917.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary, 25 cents per line. No extra price for acceptable display. Business or Special Notices, opposite editorial page, 60 cents per line. Reading Notices, standard or marked "Adv.": First page, $1.00 per line; fourth page, $1.25 per line; inside page, $1 per line.

FORGET THE FIGHTING.

The enormity of the offenses of the Standard Oil Trust against the code of business honesty and against the laws of the land is patent and undeniable. The way to remedy the growing evil and avert the growing danger is:

- First—Enforce the Interstate Commerce law to the letter. Apply its severest penalties and restrictions in this, its crucial case. If it is not strong enough for its task, let it be strengthened.
Second—Push in concert the many long-pending suits against the Trust.
Third—Lay the axe to the root of the evil by legal proceedings to forfeit the charter of every corporation that has "pooled" its stock in this or any other trust.
Fourth—Let the Governors in their messages recommend, and the Legislatures pass, stringent anti-trust legislation and provide for its enforcement.
It's high time to declare war again at the Trusts and to force the fighting.

A CHECK TO LICENSE.

The second conviction of JOHN MOER for failing to observe the distinction between freedom of speech and the inciting of men to violence and crime, ought to have a salutary effect.
MOER MOER has perfect liberty to smoke his pipe in peace, but when he knocks the fire in his pipe into a barrel of shavings under a building filled with people it is a different matter.
This mouthing agitator admitted on the stand that he was in favor of overturning the Government and of using force to do it.
The law has taken him by the coat-collar and the slack of his trousers and bundled him into jail. His trial was fair. His conviction was right. There is no place for Anarchy in this country.

SYMPATHY WILL OUT.

"Three things admit of no concealment," says an Italian proverb—"love, smoke and the fish."
The sympathy of some men with roguery should be added to the list.
Most of the sympathizers with the New York hoodlums have the wit to conceal their feelings. Not so the editor who can no longer "lie with plausibility nor tell the truth with discretion."
The Sun breaks into congratulations to SHARP's counsel, interprets the decision of the Court of Appeals as a "virtual acquittal" of the veteran briber, and then repeats its heroic admonition to THE WORLD to "move on."
If THE WORLD had not "moved on" the hoodlums works the very day after the Broadway steal, there would have been no trial. It proposes to "move on" now until the bribers and hoodlums are convicted under the present law, or a new law that will punish such crimes in future.

TURN OF THE LIGHT.

Why should there be any Star Chamber proceedings about the investigation of the claims of the Aqueduct contractors for $3,000,000 extra compensation?
There has been altogether too much mystery about the Aqueduct work from its inception. It is an undertaking involving the expenditure of many millions of the people's money, and the financial, as well as the engineering, operations seem to be involved in Egyptian darkness.
The Harvard Freshmen are not so fresh as they might be. They have voted not to row Yale.
May we have no more of Moer.

colored gentlemen in the formal statements of expense.

This $3,000,000 claim has the features of a big steal. Let us have no secrecy about its investigations.
Open the doors. Turn on the light.

HIS GUILT NOT DOUBTED.

It is a significant fact that none of the counsel of SHARP, nor any of his sympathizers, have said a word indicating a belief in his innocence of bribery.
The Court of Appeals nullifies his conviction because too much proof of his guilt was furnished, and because the evidence was not sufficiently strained through the cobwebs of the law.
Is it strange that the "plain people" are learning contempt for and distrust of the law?

A MOMENTOUS ETIQUETTE PROBLEM.

The burning question of precedence between the wives of Senators and the wives of Cabinet officers is again agitating Washington society. Before this momentous issue the theatre had crusade, the anti-decolleté dress movement and the bird ornament reform fall into insignificance.
The problem, it is said, has been submitted to Secretary BAYARD for decision. It is barely possible that the State Department has anticipated a grapple with this great issue and has reserved its really expert diplomats for this home emergency.

If they are common-sensible, which is a good deal to ask of diplomatists, they will conclude that a Senator's wife is quite as important as a Cabinet officer's wife, and vice versa, and that the wife of any respectable non-office-holding American citizen will compare very favorably with either of them.

DANGER OF CHURCH FIRES.

The New York Board of Fire Underwriters publishes a list of twenty-one churches in this city and fifteen churches in Brooklyn which are liable to be burned down at any time by reason of defective heating apparatus.
Here are thirty-six standing opportunities for a holocaust every Sunday. Notifications of the danger have had no effect.
Is not somebody responsible for the safety of the churches? The process of saving souls would certainly proceed quite as suspiciously in a structure that does not constantly menace the cremation of the body.
Protect church-goers as well as theologians.

THE AMERICAN AUTHOR'S PLEA.

The American authors undoubtedly present very strong arguments for an international copyright law, but do they not in some particular overstate their hardships?
Their money-making capacity has greatly increased of recent years. Mr. LOWELL himself avers that sixty years ago there were only two self-supporting American writers, Cooper and Irving. But now, he adds, the number who make much more than a competency is vast indeed.
This country is the biggest book mart in all the world. The American author can at least protect the sale of his own publications here. The question of competition with foreign reprints simmers down to a question of ability. The really strong and popular American writer never lacks a market.
An international copyright law would undoubtedly help American literary weaklings, but would it materially improve the quality of American literature.

WORLDLINGS.

The largest plantation in the South is owned by ex-Gov. ALCORN, of Mississippi, who has 4,000 acres under cultivation in Coahoma County.
A frightened deer dashed through the main street of a town in the other day, and although all the sportsmen in town turned out as soon as they saw it, the deer escaped.
Ex-Gov. ALGER is said to have made from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in Michigan pine lands. When he went to Detroit to practice law at the close of the war he was almost penniless.
The remains of a plesiosaur, a prehistoric reptile, were recently dug up near Sioux City, Ia. The bones show that the animal was about 30 feet long in life, and its teeth are an inch and a half in length.
Peter Gruber, of Oil City, is the champion snake hunter of Pennsylvania, and he makes a good living at it. He captures live rattlers, copperheads and blacksnakes with his naked hands and handles them with impunity.
A solid lump of coal containing eighty-seven cubic feet and weighing 4,851 pounds was exhibited at the Texas Grand Fair recently held at Dallas. It was the largest block of coal ever taken from a mine in the United States.
The most youthful prisoner in the penitentiary at Chester, Ill., was a little child who was born there two months ago, his parents being behind the bars for arson. When their sentence expires she will be nearly a grown woman.
Mr. S. O. Hackley, of Anderson, Ky., an old soldier, preserves as a relic of war times a little paper of quinine which a doctor gave him on the battlefield of Camden, N. C., twenty-four years ago, when the precious drug was worth $500 an ounce.
They no longer have "readers" in Boston. The man who reads before an audience is now an "interpreter," and in this connection it may be said that George Riddle will soon interpret the "Edipus Tyrannus" in the original Greek to untutored Chicagoans.
There are said to be more millionaires in Buenos Ayres than in any other city of its size in the world. Many of the private houses in the city have been built at a cost of over $1,000,000, and one of the banks has a paid-up capital of $27,000,000, with deposits and a line of discounts aggregating $90,000,000.
The Congressmen from the far Western States will make next little sums of pin money out of their mileage allowance, which is 30 cents a mile to and from Washington. The Oregon members will each receive $1,300 and the Arizona Delegate $1,000. Congressman Lee, of Virginia, who lives within eight miles of the capital, gets only $2.30.
A lady in Milton, Pa., who was accused by a rascal just at dusk the other evening of defecating in a novel way. She was returning from marketing and had in her basket a piece of bologna sausage which she pecked at the fellow, crying out: "You scoundrel, if you touch me I'll shoot you." Supposing it was a pistol she had, the man took to his heels.

In Town for a Day.

Charles F. Parker, U. S. A., stops at the Stratford.
Lieut. Thos. W. Wood, U. S. Marines, is at the Oriental.
C. Spalding, of theatrical fame, is at the Brunswick.
United States Senator John H. Mitchell is at the Hoffman House.
Mr. Schuyler Hamilton, Jr., of Newport, is a guest of the Everett Hotel.
Mr. and Mrs. Rastus Corning, of Virginia, reached the Gilsey House to-day.
Secretary Endicott left the Fifth Avenue Hotel en route to Washington last night.
J. Lillingsham, of the Wagner Palace Car Company, today arrived at the Windsor.
G. E. Carr, of the Baltimore Lithograph Company, is staying at the Union Square.
Austin Latham, of Corning, and J. Pops, a prominent Virginian, have registered at the Gilsey.
The name of E. Lovring, of Holbrook paper mill fame, can be read on the Park Avenue register.
Among others at the Victoria are Mr. and Mrs. Bourke Lockhart and Lieut. H. J. Macdonald, of England.
Four United States Army officers at the Grand: Lieut. Wm. H. Coffin, of the 8th and T. R. Adams and Capt. F. D. Vroom.
Three prominent railroad men at the Windsor: H. C. Putnam, of B. & O.; E. B. Phillips, of Boston and Commissioner E. W. Kinistey, also of Boston.

Among those staying at the Murray Hill Hotel is the Rev. H. Marguerite, President of Westminster College, and John Fortson, one of Boston's railroad men.

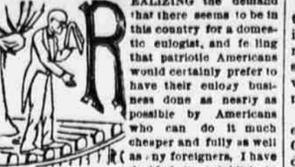

George P. Estlin, son of Senator Estlin, of Louisiana, arrived to-day, who has been a member of Gov. Cornell's staff, have written their names on the Brunswick register.

Implicit Faith.

From Life.
"Sir," he said, as he handed the youth a tract, "are you a young man of faith?"
"Ye, sir," the young man replied, "I eat a Third Avenue table d'hote dinner every night."

"BILL NIX FILLS A 'LONG-HELT WANT."

No Need, Now, for Americans to Go Abroad to Hire a Biologist.

REALIZING the demand that there seems to be in this country for a domestic biologist, and feeling that patriotic Americans would certainly prefer to have their enjoy business done as nearly as possible by Americans who can do it just as cheaply and fully as well as their foreigner, I have decided to establish in this city what may be called the Home Syndicate of Biologists and American Entomology Bureau, for the purpose of furnishing fluent and able men to pronounce encomiums on eminent statesmen, authors and divines.

I can see now that as a people we have heretofore fooled ourselves and turned away money by falling to charge admissions to funerals and the eulogies addresses of popular men. It seems strange to me that with our Yankee shrewdness we should have ignored this method of making money and allowed a great English pulpit orator to teach us how prodigal and unthrifty we have been.
The new Bureau will furnish eulogists at a fair price per eulogy or stand in with local committees on a percentage. For the encomium on a comparatively unknown man we propose to charge a regular fee, while in case of a well-known and very popular man we will work upon the sympathies of the people at a percentage.

We will be prepared after while also to furnish obituary poetry at a moment's notice, and will assist in casting a gloom over communities not provided for.
Special orders for eulogists who can shed scathing tears by pulling a string will be attended to.
We shall also work in hearty accord with large tombstone works upon such terms as to introduce a new and attractive style of monument at a living rate, and make the eulogy assist in paying for same. Our eulogists will answer calls anywhere in this country, or go abroad in case the eulogy will defray the expenses of an ocean trip. Do not give your encomium work to any one till you have seen our terms and press notices. In writing or wiring us state whether you want a dry or tearful eulogy.

AMERICAN ENCOMIUM BUREAU.

BILL NIX, Manager.
P. S.—By way of an illustration simply, a sample of our style of epitaph. The following was recently furnished by our Bureau to the family of a deceased moonlight whiskey manufacturer in Tennessee:
Inspected while living,
Fermented while dead,
His rectified spirit
Is still a dark red. B. N.

WORLDLINGS.

The largest plantation in the South is owned by ex-Gov. ALCORN, of Mississippi, who has 4,000 acres under cultivation in Coahoma County.
A frightened deer dashed through the main street of a town in the other day, and although all the sportsmen in town turned out as soon as they saw it, the deer escaped.
Ex-Gov. ALGER is said to have made from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in Michigan pine lands. When he went to Detroit to practice law at the close of the war he was almost penniless.
The remains of a plesiosaur, a prehistoric reptile, were recently dug up near Sioux City, Ia. The bones show that the animal was about 30 feet long in life, and its teeth are an inch and a half in length.
Peter Gruber, of Oil City, is the champion snake hunter of Pennsylvania, and he makes a good living at it. He captures live rattlers, copperheads and blacksnakes with his naked hands and handles them with impunity.
A solid lump of coal containing eighty-seven cubic feet and weighing 4,851 pounds was exhibited at the Texas Grand Fair recently held at Dallas. It was the largest block of coal ever taken from a mine in the United States.
The most youthful prisoner in the penitentiary at Chester, Ill., was a little child who was born there two months ago, his parents being behind the bars for arson. When their sentence expires she will be nearly a grown woman.
Mr. S. O. Hackley, of Anderson, Ky., an old soldier, preserves as a relic of war times a little paper of quinine which a doctor gave him on the battlefield of Camden, N. C., twenty-four years ago, when the precious drug was worth $500 an ounce.
They no longer have "readers" in Boston. The man who reads before an audience is now an "interpreter," and in this connection it may be said that George Riddle will soon interpret the "Edipus Tyrannus" in the original Greek to untutored Chicagoans.
There are said to be more millionaires in Buenos Ayres than in any other city of its size in the world. Many of the private houses in the city have been built at a cost of over $1,000,000, and one of the banks has a paid-up capital of $27,000,000, with deposits and a line of discounts aggregating $90,000,000.
The Congressmen from the far Western States will make next little sums of pin money out of their mileage allowance, which is 30 cents a mile to and from Washington. The Oregon members will each receive $1,300 and the Arizona Delegate $1,000. Congressman Lee, of Virginia, who lives within eight miles of the capital, gets only $2.30.
A lady in Milton, Pa., who was accused by a rascal just at dusk the other evening of defecating in a novel way. She was returning from marketing and had in her basket a piece of bologna sausage which she pecked at the fellow, crying out: "You scoundrel, if you touch me I'll shoot you." Supposing it was a pistol she had, the man took to his heels.

WORLDLINGS.

The largest plantation in the South is owned by ex-Gov. ALCORN, of Mississippi, who has 4,000 acres under cultivation in Coahoma County.
A frightened deer dashed through the main street of a town in the other day, and although all the sportsmen in town turned out as soon as they saw it, the deer escaped.
Ex-Gov. ALGER is said to have made from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in Michigan pine lands. When he went to Detroit to practice law at the close of the war he was almost penniless.
The remains of a plesiosaur, a prehistoric reptile, were recently dug up near Sioux City, Ia. The bones show that the animal was about 30 feet long in life, and its teeth are an inch and a half in length.
Peter Gruber, of Oil City, is the champion snake hunter of Pennsylvania, and he makes a good living at it. He captures live rattlers, copperheads and blacksnakes with his naked hands and handles them with impunity.
A solid lump of coal containing eighty-seven cubic feet and weighing 4,851 pounds was exhibited at the Texas Grand Fair recently held at Dallas. It was the largest block of coal ever taken from a mine in the United States.
The most youthful prisoner in the penitentiary at Chester, Ill., was a little child who was born there two months ago, his parents being behind the bars for arson. When their sentence expires she will be nearly a grown woman.
Mr. S. O. Hackley, of Anderson, Ky., an old soldier, preserves as a relic of war times a little paper of quinine which a doctor gave him on the battlefield of Camden, N. C., twenty-four years ago, when the precious drug was worth $500 an ounce.
They no longer have "readers" in Boston. The man who reads before an audience is now an "interpreter," and in this connection it may be said that George Riddle will soon interpret the "Edipus Tyrannus" in the original Greek to untutored Chicagoans.
There are said to be more millionaires in Buenos Ayres than in any other city of its size in the world. Many of the private houses in the city have been built at a cost of over $1,000,000, and one of the banks has a paid-up capital of $27,000,000, with deposits and a line of discounts aggregating $90,000,000.
The Congressmen from the far Western States will make next little sums of pin money out of their mileage allowance, which is 30 cents a mile to and from Washington. The Oregon members will each receive $1,300 and the Arizona Delegate $1,000. Congressman Lee, of Virginia, who lives within eight miles of the capital, gets only $2.30.
A lady in Milton, Pa., who was accused by a rascal just at dusk the other evening of defecating in a novel way. She was returning from marketing and had in her basket a piece of bologna sausage which she pecked at the fellow, crying out: "You scoundrel, if you touch me I'll shoot you." Supposing it was a pistol she had, the man took to his heels.

WORLDLINGS.

The largest plantation in the South is owned by ex-Gov. ALCORN, of Mississippi, who has 4,000 acres under cultivation in Coahoma County.
A frightened deer dashed through the main street of a town in the other day, and although all the sportsmen in town turned out as soon as they saw it, the deer escaped.
Ex-Gov. ALGER is said to have made from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in Michigan pine lands. When he went to Detroit to practice law at the close of the war he was almost penniless.
The remains of a plesiosaur, a prehistoric reptile, were recently dug up near Sioux City, Ia. The bones show that the animal was about 30 feet long in life, and its teeth are an inch and a half in length.
Peter Gruber, of Oil City, is the champion snake hunter of Pennsylvania, and he makes a good living at it. He captures live rattlers, copperheads and blacksnakes with his naked hands and handles them with impunity.
A solid lump of coal containing eighty-seven cubic feet and weighing 4,851 pounds was exhibited at the Texas Grand Fair recently held at Dallas. It was the largest block of coal ever taken from a mine in the United States.
The most youthful prisoner in the penitentiary at Chester, Ill., was a little child who was born there two months ago, his parents being behind the bars for arson. When their sentence expires she will be nearly a grown woman.
Mr. S. O. Hackley, of Anderson, Ky., an old soldier, preserves as a relic of war times a little paper of quinine which a doctor gave him on the battlefield of Camden, N. C., twenty-four years ago, when the precious drug was worth $500 an ounce.
They no longer have "readers" in Boston. The man who reads before an audience is now an "interpreter," and in this connection it may be said that George Riddle will soon interpret the "Edipus Tyrannus" in the original Greek to untutored Chicagoans.
There are said to be more millionaires in Buenos Ayres than in any other city of its size in the world. Many of the private houses in the city have been built at a cost of over $1,000,000, and one of the banks has a paid-up capital of $27,000,000, with deposits and a line of discounts aggregating $90,000,000.
The Congressmen from the far Western States will make next little sums of pin money out of their mileage allowance, which is 30 cents a mile to and from Washington. The Oregon members will each receive $1,300 and the Arizona Delegate $1,000. Congressman Lee, of Virginia, who lives within eight miles of the capital, gets only $2.30.
A lady in Milton, Pa., who was accused by a rascal just at dusk the other evening of defecating in a novel way. She was returning from marketing and had in her basket a piece of bologna sausage which she pecked at the fellow, crying out: "You scoundrel, if you touch me I'll shoot you." Supposing it was a pistol she had, the man took to his heels.

WORLDLINGS.

The largest plantation in the South is owned by ex-Gov. ALCORN, of Mississippi, who has 4,000 acres under cultivation in Coahoma County.
A frightened deer dashed through the main street of a town in the other day, and although all the sportsmen in town turned out as soon as they saw it, the deer escaped.
Ex-Gov. ALGER is said to have made from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in Michigan pine lands. When he went to Detroit to practice law at the close of the war he was almost penniless.
The remains of a plesiosaur, a prehistoric reptile, were recently dug up near Sioux City, Ia. The bones show that the animal was about 30 feet long in life, and its teeth are an inch and a half in length.
Peter Gruber, of Oil City, is the champion snake hunter of Pennsylvania, and he makes a good living at it. He captures live rattlers, copperheads and blacksnakes with his naked hands and handles them with impunity.
A solid lump of coal containing eighty-seven cubic feet and weighing 4,851 pounds was exhibited at the Texas Grand Fair recently held at Dallas. It was the largest block of coal ever taken from a mine in the United States.
The most youthful prisoner in the penitentiary at Chester, Ill., was a little child who was born there two months ago, his parents being behind the bars for arson. When their sentence expires she will be nearly a grown woman.
Mr. S. O. Hackley, of Anderson, Ky., an old soldier, preserves as a relic of war times a little paper of quinine which a doctor gave him on the battlefield of Camden, N. C., twenty-four years ago, when the precious drug was worth $500 an ounce.
They no longer have "readers" in Boston. The man who reads before an audience is now an "interpreter," and in this connection it may be said that George Riddle will soon interpret the "Edipus Tyrannus" in the original Greek to untutored Chicagoans.
There are said to be more millionaires in Buenos Ayres than in any other city of its size in the world. Many of the private houses in the city have been built at a cost of over $1,000,000, and one of the banks has a paid-up capital of $27,000,000, with deposits and a line of discounts aggregating $90,000,000.
The Congressmen from the far Western States will make next little sums of pin money out of their mileage allowance, which is 30 cents a mile to and from Washington. The Oregon members will each receive $1,300 and the Arizona Delegate $1,000. Congressman Lee, of Virginia, who lives within eight miles of the capital, gets only $2.30.
A lady in Milton, Pa., who was accused by a rascal just at dusk the other evening of defecating in a novel way. She was returning from marketing and had in her basket a piece of bologna sausage which she pecked at the fellow, crying out: "You scoundrel, if you touch me I'll shoot you." Supposing it was a pistol she had, the man took to his heels.

WORLDLINGS.

The largest plantation in the South is owned by ex-Gov. ALCORN, of Mississippi, who has 4,000 acres under cultivation in Coahoma County.
A frightened deer dashed through the main street of a town in the other day, and although all the sportsmen in town turned out as soon as they saw it, the deer escaped.
Ex-Gov. ALGER is said to have made from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in Michigan pine lands. When he went to Detroit to practice law at the close of the war he was almost penniless.
The remains of a plesiosaur, a prehistoric reptile, were recently dug up near Sioux City, Ia. The bones show that the animal was about 30 feet long in life, and its teeth are an inch and a half in length.
Peter Gruber, of Oil City, is the champion snake hunter of Pennsylvania, and he makes a good living at it. He captures live rattlers, copperheads and blacksnakes with his naked hands and handles them with impunity.
A solid lump of coal containing eighty-seven cubic feet and weighing 4,851 pounds was exhibited at the Texas Grand Fair recently held at Dallas. It was the largest block of coal ever taken from a mine in the United States.
The most youthful prisoner in the penitentiary at Chester, Ill., was a little child who was born there two months ago, his parents being behind the bars for arson. When their sentence expires she will be nearly a grown woman.
Mr. S. O. Hackley, of Anderson, Ky., an old soldier, preserves as a relic of war times a little paper of quinine which a doctor gave him on the battlefield of Camden, N. C., twenty-four years ago, when the precious drug was worth $500 an ounce.
They no longer have "readers" in Boston. The man who reads before an audience is now an "interpreter," and in this connection it may be said that George Riddle will soon interpret the "Edipus Tyrannus" in the original Greek to untutored Chicagoans.
There are said to be more millionaires in Buenos Ayres than in any other city of its size in the world. Many of the private houses in the city have been built at a cost of over $1,000,000, and one of the banks has a paid-up capital of $27,000,000, with deposits and a line of discounts aggregating $90,000,000.
The Congressmen from the far Western States will make next little sums of pin money out of their mileage allowance, which is 30 cents a mile to and from Washington. The Oregon members will each receive $1,300 and the Arizona Delegate $1,000. Congressman Lee, of Virginia, who lives within eight miles of the capital, gets only $2.30.
A lady in Milton, Pa., who was accused by a rascal just at dusk the other evening of defecating in a novel way. She was returning from marketing and had in her basket a piece of bologna sausage which she pecked at the fellow, crying out: "You scoundrel, if you touch me I'll shoot you." Supposing it was a pistol she had, the man took to his heels.

WORLDLINGS.

The largest plantation in the South is owned by ex-Gov. ALCORN, of Mississippi, who has 4,000 acres under cultivation in Coahoma County.
A frightened deer dashed through the main street of a town in the other day, and although all the sportsmen in town turned out as soon as they saw it, the deer escaped.
Ex-Gov. ALGER is said to have made from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in Michigan pine lands. When he went to Detroit to practice law at the close of the war he was almost penniless.
The remains of a plesiosaur, a prehistoric reptile, were recently dug up near Sioux City, Ia. The bones show that the animal was about 30 feet long in life, and its teeth are an inch and a half in length.
Peter Gruber, of Oil City, is the champion snake hunter of Pennsylvania, and he makes a good living at it. He captures live rattlers, copperheads and blacksnakes with his naked hands and handles them with impunity.
A solid lump of coal containing eighty-seven cubic feet and weighing 4,851 pounds was exhibited at the Texas Grand Fair recently held at Dallas. It was the largest block of coal ever taken from a mine in the United States.
The most youthful prisoner in the penitentiary at Chester, Ill., was a little child who was born there two months ago, his parents being behind the bars for arson. When their sentence expires she will be nearly a grown woman.
Mr. S. O. Hackley, of Anderson, Ky., an old soldier, preserves as a relic of war times a little paper of quinine which a doctor gave him on the battlefield of Camden, N. C., twenty-four years ago, when the precious drug was worth $500 an ounce.
They no longer have "readers" in Boston. The man who reads before an audience is now an "interpreter," and in this connection it may be said that George Riddle will soon interpret the "Edipus Tyrannus" in the original Greek to untutored Chicagoans.
There are said to be more millionaires in Buenos Ayres than in any other city of its size in the world. Many of the private houses in the city have been built at a cost of over $1,000,000, and one of the banks has a paid-up capital of $27,000,000, with deposits and a line of discounts aggregating $90,000,000.
The Congressmen from the far Western States will make next little sums of pin money out of their mileage allowance, which is 30 cents a mile to and from Washington. The Oregon members will each receive $1,300 and the Arizona Delegate $1,000. Congressman Lee, of Virginia, who lives within eight miles of the capital, gets only $2.30.
A lady in Milton, Pa., who was accused by a rascal just at dusk the other evening of defecating in a novel way. She was returning from marketing and had in her basket a piece of bologna sausage which she pecked at the fellow, crying out: "You scoundrel, if you touch me I'll shoot you." Supposing it was a pistol she had, the man took to his heels.

WORLDLINGS.

The largest plantation in the South is owned by ex-Gov. ALCORN, of Mississippi, who has 4,000 acres under cultivation in Coahoma County.
A frightened deer dashed through the main street of a town in the other day, and although all the sportsmen in town turned out as soon as they saw it, the deer escaped.
Ex-Gov. ALGER is said to have made from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in Michigan pine lands. When he went to Detroit to practice law at the close of the war he was almost penniless.
The remains of a plesiosaur, a prehistoric reptile, were recently dug up near Sioux City, Ia. The bones show that the animal was about 30 feet long in life, and its teeth are an inch and a half in length.
Peter Gruber, of Oil City, is the champion snake hunter of Pennsylvania, and he makes a good living at it. He captures live rattlers, copperheads and blacksnakes with his naked hands and handles them with impunity.
A solid lump of coal containing eighty-seven cubic feet and weighing 4,851 pounds was exhibited at the Texas Grand Fair recently held at Dallas. It was the largest block of coal ever taken from a mine in the United States.
The most youthful prisoner in the penitentiary at Chester, Ill., was a little child who was born there two months ago, his parents being behind the bars for arson. When their sentence expires she will be nearly a grown woman.
Mr. S. O. Hackley, of Anderson, Ky., an old soldier, preserves as a relic of war times a little paper of quinine which a doctor gave him on the battlefield of Camden, N. C., twenty-four years ago, when the precious drug was worth $500 an ounce.
They no longer have "readers" in Boston. The man who reads before an audience is now an "interpreter," and in this connection it may be said that George Riddle will soon interpret the "Edipus Tyrannus" in the original Greek to untutored Chicagoans.
There are said to be more millionaires in Buenos Ayres than in any other city of its size in the world. Many of the private houses in the city have been built at a cost of over $1,000,000, and one of the banks has a paid-up capital of $27,000,000, with deposits and a line of discounts aggregating $90,000,000.
The Congressmen from the far Western States will make next little sums of pin money out of their mileage allowance, which is 30 cents a mile to and from Washington. The Oregon members will each receive $1,300 and the Arizona Delegate $1,000. Congressman Lee, of Virginia, who lives within eight miles of the capital, gets only $2.30.
A lady in Milton, Pa., who was accused by a rascal just at dusk the other evening of defecating in a novel way. She was returning from marketing and had in her basket a piece of bologna sausage which she pecked at the fellow, crying out: "You scoundrel, if you touch me I'll shoot you." Supposing it was a pistol she had, the man took to his heels.

WORLDLINGS.

The largest plantation in the South is owned by ex-Gov. ALCORN, of Mississippi, who has 4,000 acres under cultivation in Coahoma County.
A frightened deer dashed through the main street of a town in the other day, and although all the sportsmen in town turned out as soon as they saw it, the deer escaped.
Ex-Gov. ALGER is said to have made from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in Michigan pine lands. When he went to Detroit to practice law at the close of the war he was almost penniless.
The remains of a plesiosaur, a prehistoric reptile, were recently dug up near Sioux City, Ia. The bones show that the animal was about 30 feet long in life, and its teeth are an inch and a half in length.
Peter Gruber, of Oil City, is the champion snake hunter of Pennsylvania, and he makes a good living at it. He captures live rattlers, copperheads and blacksnakes with his naked hands and handles them with impunity.
A solid lump of coal containing eighty-seven cubic feet and weighing 4,851 pounds was exhibited at the Texas Grand Fair recently held at Dallas. It was the largest block of coal ever taken from a mine in the United States.
The most youthful prisoner in the penitentiary at Chester, Ill., was a little child who was born there two months ago, his parents being behind the bars for arson. When their sentence expires she will be nearly a grown woman.
Mr. S. O. Hackley, of Anderson, Ky., an old soldier, preserves as a relic of war times a little paper of quinine which a doctor gave him on the battlefield of Camden, N. C., twenty-four years ago, when the precious drug was worth $500 an ounce.
They no longer have "readers" in Boston. The man who reads before an audience is now an "interpreter," and in this connection it may be said that George Riddle will soon interpret the "Edipus Tyrannus" in the original Greek to untutored Chicagoans.
There are said to be more millionaires in Buenos Ayres than in any other city of its size in the world. Many of the private houses in the city have been built at a cost of over $1,000,000, and one of the banks has a paid-up capital of $27,000,000, with deposits and a line of discounts aggregating $90,000,000.
The Congressmen from the far Western States will make next little sums of pin money out of their mileage allowance, which is 30 cents a mile to and from Washington. The Oregon members will each receive $1,300 and the Arizona Delegate $1,000. Congressman Lee, of Virginia, who lives within eight miles of the capital, gets only $2.30.
A lady in Milton, Pa., who was accused by a rascal just at dusk the other evening of defecating in a novel way. She was returning from marketing and had in her basket a piece of bologna sausage which she pecked at the fellow, crying out: "You scoundrel, if you touch me I'll shoot you." Supposing it was a pistol she had, the man took to his heels.

WORLDLINGS.

The largest plantation in the South is owned by ex-Gov. ALCORN, of Mississippi, who has 4,000 acres under cultivation in Coahoma County.
A frightened deer dashed through the main street of a town in the other day, and although all the sportsmen in town turned out as soon as they saw it, the deer escaped.
Ex-Gov. ALGER is said to have made from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in Michigan pine lands. When he went to Detroit to practice law at the close of the war he was almost penniless.
The remains of a plesiosaur, a prehistoric reptile, were recently dug up near Sioux City, Ia. The bones show that the animal was about 30 feet long in life, and its teeth are an inch and a half in length.
Peter Gruber, of Oil City, is the champion snake hunter of Pennsylvania, and he makes a good living at it. He captures live rattlers, copperheads and blacksnakes with his naked hands and handles them with impunity.
A solid lump of coal containing eighty-seven cubic feet and weighing 4,851 pounds was exhibited at the Texas Grand Fair recently held at Dallas. It was the largest block of coal ever taken from a mine in the United States.
The most youthful prisoner in the penitentiary at Chester, Ill., was a little child who was born there two months ago, his parents being behind the bars for arson. When their sentence expires she will be nearly a grown woman.
Mr. S. O. Hackley, of Anderson, Ky., an old soldier, preserves as a relic of war times a little paper of quinine which a doctor gave him on the battlefield of Camden, N. C., twenty-four years ago, when the precious drug was worth $500 an ounce.
They no longer have "readers" in Boston. The man who reads before an audience is now an "interpreter," and in this connection it may be said that George Riddle will soon interpret the "Edipus Tyrannus" in the original Greek to untutored Chicagoans.
There are said to be more millionaires in Buenos Ayres than in any other city of its size in the world. Many of the private houses in the city have been built at a cost of over $1,000,000, and one of the banks has a paid-up capital of $27,000,000, with deposits and a line of discounts aggregating $90,000,000.
The Congressmen from the far Western States will make next little sums of pin money out of their mileage allowance, which is 30 cents a mile to and from Washington. The Oregon members will each receive $1,300 and the Arizona Delegate $1,000. Congressman Lee, of Virginia, who lives within eight miles of the capital, gets only $2.30.
A lady in Milton, Pa., who was accused by a rascal just at dusk the other evening of defecating in a novel way. She was returning from marketing and had in her basket a piece of bologna sausage which she pecked at the fellow, crying out: "You scoundrel, if you touch me I'll shoot you." Supposing it was a pistol she had, the man took to his heels.

WILL HUSTED BE NEXT SPEAKER?